Under the ruins

by MiaQc

Summary

In a country at war, a little girl lies under the ruins of her family home. She is dying.

- A translation of Sous les ruines by MiaQc

She had a room. All pink because she loved that color.

It's gone.

She had brothers, sisters, a mother and a father.

They’re gone.

She had a home. A safe, loving home.

It's gone.

It's in ruins now.

The little girl, Sahia, is under these ruins.

She is dying.

All because of this stupid war.

The enemy bombings.

I… I hate you. Do you hear me, war? I hate you!

These are Sahia's last thoughts.
